Sofas with a story.

A sofa is the centrepiece of a living room. In many ways, the centrepiece of people's lives. Imagine all the moments that take place on a sofa. Conversations, time spent with family and friends, lazy Sunday afternoons, children growing up. A good sofa lasts and becomes part of the memories it helps to create.

Our sofas have a unique story to tell. That story started in the forests of Bjärnum in the south of Sweden, 30 years ago. Furninova, a family-owned company, has since then grown to become a global brand with a wide variety of sofas. An experienced supplier with an extensive range of designs, sizes, shapes, materials and leathers. A freedom of choice that few in the industry can compete with. It lets people all around the world find just the right sofa for them. A sofa that embraces their individuality.

Our story started three decades ago. And it has just begun. Every day, we continue to create new stories together with our resellers and customers. We listen to them, finding inspiration and ideas, discovering new trends and fashions. Our sofas are built to last, but their design will always feel fresh and new.

The greatest story is still untold. At Furninova, we take responsibility for the future we all share. We have our own production and can make sustainable choices in every part of our sofa's life cycle. We are FSC®-certified and craft our furniture from responsibly sourced wood. We encourage an open dialogue with our resellers and partners because together, we can find new ways to further minimize our impact on the environment. Our goal is to continue making products that are good for both people and the planet.

So, sit back on a comfy sofa, turn the page and let our story unfold.

Sustainability in more than one way.

Our own factory

There are all kinds of advantages to owning your own production process. One of the most important is having full control, from start to finish. We build the frames ourselves. We cut the fabric and leather. And we assemble and upholster the furniture. All of this takes craftsmanship, and it also gives us the space we need to create something unique. Furthermore, the factory's location in Poland puts us near our various markets, which is particularly important considering sustainability.

Design and aesthetics

Design is ultimately about what's important when it comes to choosing a sofa. Of course, the initial comfort, but perhaps more importantly, how the comfort feels after many years of use. The colour, the sensation as you run your hand over the fabric to feel the texture. For us, sofas are about precision but equally about passion. This is the main reason why we design all the sofas in our range ourselves.

Flexibility and freedom of choice

The flexibility and freedom of choice we offer have become our hallmark. The freedom lies in the wide selection of fabrics and leathers, and is a genuine good value when choosing a sofa. It's also possible to combine our sofa models in all kinds of ways. The end result is true freedom to create your very own, unique Furninova sofa.

Sustainability and environment

It's not by chance that our factory is in Poland. It not only gives us complete control over production and quality, but the location itself is also strategic. Quite simply, it puts us that bit closer to our various markets. We are also FSC® certified because we believe that honest, natural materials create furniture that lasts.

The vast majority of our fabrics are OEKO-TEX® approved. We also minimise waste to keep the air and water clean for future generations, and all our suppliers fulfil our supplier policy. This includes the EU's comprehensive REACH regulation, United Nations Conventions, ILO regulations, the UN Global Compact and the EU Timber Regulation.

Forest Stewardship Council

Furninova is certified by FSC® to achieve our social and environmental goals, creating a wide range of furniture crafted from responsibly sourced wood and wood-based products. The Forest Stewardship Council (FSC®) is an international non-profit organisation working towards establishing more sustainable forestry around the world.

FSC® provide global standards for forest management, which cover a balance of environmental, social and economic aspects. By being a member of the organisation, Furninova has a certification that confirms that the forest is being managed in a way that preserves biological diversity and benefits the lives of local people and workers while ensuring it sustains economic viability. Every step in the process is transparent, honest and sustainable by default. The purchase of products carrying the FSC logo supports the preservation of hundreds of millions of acres of forest around the world.

At Furninova we believe that honest and natural materials create furniture that lasts - in agreement with our commitment to deliver long-lasting pieces of furniture - while minimising waste, still keeping the air and water we all share safe and clean for future generations.

The secret is seeing opportunities.

What was it that made you start Furninova?

In actual fact, it wasn't me that started Furninova. I was a football player, and let my sporting career decide where I lived. From Husqvarna FF I went off to IFK Hässleholm. There I came into contact with the furniture company Br. Gustafsson. It was my first job in the business. After a while I changed job and became a key account manager at one of Europe's largest furniture companies, Schieder. During that period I spent a lot of time at furniture factories across Poland. I then came across the former Deputy MD of Br. Gustafsson who by now had started the trading company, Furninova. So we joined forces, this was back in 1990.

Do you have any memories from that time?

My colleague and I started trading in all kinds of furniture. I remember one time especially when we bought a couple of thousand armchairs, which we sent to Bratells furniture store. They managed to sell 1,200 in an hour, an amazing accomplishment! The problem was that about 600 were returned with complaints within a few days, so it ended up being bad business for everyone involved. A couple of years later I bought my business partner out and became the sole owner of Furninova, and also turned it into a limited company.

Why do you have your own furniture factory?

Business started taking off. A lot of production was taking place in Poland, where I'd built up some good contacts. At one factory where we made sofas for MIO, IKEA was a big customer too. When they increased production with that supplier, there was no longer any room for us, and Mio gave me three months to secure production another way. And I did. About the same time, my old employer Schieder's business started declining, and their Polish supplier had less and less to do. This led me into a partnership with the supplier so we could keep producing furniture for MIO.

What do you think is behind Furninova's success?

Furninova's business has constantly grown, apart from a few short blips along the way. One of the keys to our success is all our skilled, dedicated colleagues. They're really passionate about what they do, and they've been a crucial part of our journey over the years. And of course my family, I couldn't have done it without them. Today, my wife and three adult children also work in the company. Over the years, we've built up a culture in the company that's hard to emulate. That's also an important reason behind our success. We stand by what we do and follow our set path. My attitude has always been to see opportunities, to be positive and believe in people. That attitude guides our entire organisation today.

Do you remember any critical events for Furninova?

Well, this was early on in our journey. Our factory in Poland wasn't as flexible as it is today, and MIO weren't as streamlined as they are now. In one meeting with them, I outlined my strategy on a chart. It basically boiled down to the end consumer being able to choose one of our models, one of our 250 different fabrics and which leg colour they wanted. That way the store could order and buy a truckload of sofas that had already been sold when they reached the warehouse. The MIO rep's spontaneous response was, 'That's the most ridiculous idea I've ever heard... But let's do it.' The concept was a major success both for the stores and for us. I won the customer's trust there and then, and it has meant a lot to me and to the development of Furninova as a whole.

What is typically Furninova to you?

I would say it's our flexibility. Partly how we greet and treat our customers, but above all in how we develop our sofas as products. No one else has as many models, modules or fabrics to choose from. This has become something of a hallmark for Furninova, and something customers request.

What acquisitions have you made over the years?

Our first one was a small part of Conform, but as of 2018 we own 100 per cent. It's a real success and delivers good results year after year. In 2008 we acquired 50 per cent of a former business partner, Ambiente, a Danish company that specialises in building trade fairs and retail stores. We also bought Affari, which makes home decorations from exciting materials, in 2015, as well as Romanian wooden furniture-maker Dekorame, in which we own 55 per cent. In 2015 we also bought Brafab, Sweden's largest outdoor furniture company. There's a bit of a story behind the acquisition of Brafab. They actually received higher bids from other prospective buyers, but former owner Rolf Brorsson wanted to sell to us. Today, it's amazing to think that Brafab started out selling wicker baskets on market squares around Sweden. In 2011 we started Soul, which sells lamps, rugs and modern furniture, and that same year we founded Furnigroup to be the parent company of all our businesses.

How do you see the future of the furniture industry?

I think that what's already happening in other retail will happen with furniture too. Fewer people are likely to buy their furniture from a traditional furniture store. The retail chains will survive, but only the strongest ones. Online sales are already growing strongly, and they will take more market share moving forward.

How are you dealing with changes on the market?

We're following the trend of increased online sales, and looking at how this can be an opportunity for us and in what way. We have an excellent collaboration with our customers today and don't want to disrupt their business. Working more internationally is another possibility. We can already be found in many places in Europe, as well as in China, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Dubai... and there is potential in many other places around the world too. But of course we must never forget to maintain our skill and feeling for developing the right models, details and fabrics... and being ready when trends come along.

What's happening with the big trade fairs?

We're continuing to invest in trade fairs around the world. IMM Cologne is our main one, but Stockholm, Shanghai, M.O.W. and Brussels are important too. It's mainly the ability to present the entire width of our range that's important. And of course all the meetings and contacts over the intensive days of the fair. I think that trade fairs will remain important for many years to come, although possibly in other forms. All the opportunities of digital technology will of course have an impact. Just imagine putting on a pair of VR goggles and walking around in different digital environments.

What's the best thing about your job?

Working alongside genuinely dedicated, inquisitive people, as I have done for many years now. Having said that, I've never really thought of my job as a job, it's been more of a lifestyle. But when I finished as MD and started as CEO, I suddenly had more free time. So I use a lot of that time to train and exercise. I even had the time to climb one of the world's most famous mountains, The Matterhorn. It is located on the border between Switzerland and Italy, and its peak is 4,478 metres (14,692 ft) high, making it one of the highest summits in the Alps and Europe. It's a long time since I was this fit...

And finally, what sofa do you have at home?

An Amaya. It's a luxurious sofa with outstanding seat comfort.

Sake is a loose cover model, making it highly practical if you have a minor accident on the sofa or want to change its looks after buying it. Maintaining the sofa by washing the fabric and keeping the sofa clean and pristine extends the sofa's lifespan and use. You will do yourself and the environment a big favour in the long run. Should a misfortune occur, it is also cheaper to exchange just the cover instead of the entire sofa.

Samba

Samba can be ordered in 3 different back cushions and with 5 varying styles of armrests to suit your leisure style fully. Adding to Samba's organic design language, several of its modules are curved, enabling you to create a sofa group made up of circles or round flowing shapes.

Samba

New for 2021 is the addition of an optional 7 cm higher back frame to ensure a high level of seating support for taller individuals. To Samba's range has also been added a round footstool to complement the sofa systems rounder shapes. 2 new armrests are also added to the range: Amazon and Pedro. Amazon is a slim lower armrest covering the sofa's sides, elegantly ending a modular combination by leaving it more open if it is placed freestanding. Pedro is a wide armrest just like Samba's armrest Rio but with a new type of sewing to create a slightly more clear-cut look.

Most of what we do fundamentally relates to sustainability.

Who is Thomas Nordqvist?

"I am over 50 with a partner and two children, raised and living in the metropolis of Hässleholm, 15 minutes from Bjärnum. In my spare time, I enjoy physical activities as far away from my sedentary office life as possible. Purchasing, logistics and sales have always been close to my heart, but I began my working life, a little unexpectedly, in the care sector and special needs primary education. For a number of years early on, I worked with children and young people with autism. This was a wonderful time that provided me with a great deal of experience. I also learned to see and understand people's needs. This was followed by a spell at Hässleholm local authority, where I worked with public procurement."

How did you end up in the furniture business?

"I did not exactly plan my route to the furniture sector. I was looking around for something else and got a job at another furniture company. This company resembled Furninova in many respects. I was there for 3–4 years before joining Furninova. I've been here for more than two decades now, so I'm clearly happy. What a journey it's been, and we're not there yet."

What is your role at Furninova?

"I am the Purchasing & Logistics Manager. Being purchasing manager is basically simple. It's a matter of ensuring that the right goods of the right quality in the right version and at the right price arrive at the right time. Being a logistics manager is much more difficult, where it is mostly a matter of solving challenges. As with all exports, for example, there are lots of challenges, particularly in relation to administration. And the requirements vary from country to country. Today, around 80 per cent of our production is exported. Our products can be found pretty much all over the world, from Europe, the Middle East and Asia to North Africa and North America. And our export market is growing at breakneck speed."

What's the best thing about your job?

"In my opinion, it's anything but monotonous. Others might find it stressful that most of the things on the to-do list are still there at the end of the day. Other things have come up, quite simply. I've been doing this for so long now that I can prioritise and don't get stressed. On the other hand, it's difficult to deal with world events that we can't influence, such as factories being shut down for days – it's frustrating."

What are the sustainability challenges in the sofa industry?

"For the first time, I sense that the sustainability issue is being taken seriously, that it's real now. At long last, in my opinion. The pressure is coming from consumers, and this naturally affects retailers. It will be challenging for all manufacturers to keep up in this respect, because things are now moving quickly. If I had to highlight one specific area, it would be transport. Dealing with all the plastic used in transport packaging is a major challenge. It's a complex task, as there are so many different sizes of furniture. But this work has to be done – it's a matter of transforming and adapting the business. We set out on our journey several years ago. Today, for example, all leather waste is utilised and turned into products such as mobile phone cases. And leftover fabric from the sofa manufacturing process is made into sacks to hold the leather waste."

How do you work with sustainability now?

"In order to ensure that social, environmental and quality requirements on our part are met, we have developed a supplier policy that all suppliers have signed and have to adhere to. Our aim is to adopt a long-term approach in our work with our suppliers, and thereby build up a strong collaboration that benefits our work on sustainability issues. Our fabric and leather suppliers, for example, have to satisfy requirements according to REACH, an EU regulation relating to the production and safe use of chemicals. In addition, an increasing proportion of our fabrics also meet the requirements for Oeko-Tex, a worldwide system certifying that the fabrics do not contain chemicals that cause negative effects, either to people or the environment.”

When will Furninova’s first Swan-labelled sofa arrive?

“It’s already here, having undergone testing at RISE (Research Institutes of Sweden). RISE works with industrial research and innovation, as well as performing testing and certification. The Nordic Swan Ecolabel is the best-known ecolabel in the Scandinavian countries, delivering certification and scope with world-class environmental goals. But this is just the beginning. In the future, we will be making sofas primarily from climate-smart materials.”

What does the fact that you are FSC-certified mean?

“Most people are probably familiar with FSC and know that it’s a good thing, although not exactly how. Being FSC-certified is a guarantee that all the wood comes from sustainably grown forest. For us, this means that the entire chain is certified, from raw material to finished product. FSC is also working to improve the living and working conditions of forest workers, as well as to clarify the relationship between responsible forestry and actions that can mitigate climate change. For our customers, and ultimately for consumers, this means that they can rest assured that the furniture we manufacture takes both nature and people into consideration.”

How do you think sustainability issues will affect sofa sales in future?

“This will definitely affect all of us more and more in future. Here in the Nordic region, we are at the forefront regarding these issues, but other countries are making significant strides. It’s a matter of reviewing the entire production process and reducing the use of metals, water and chemicals, as well as using more sustainable materials. This may initially result in higher production costs, but it will gradually even out as the rise is largely related to high starting costs.”

You talk about long-term collaborations. How is this sustainable?

“Good dialogue is an important part of long-term collaborations, where we discuss what we need going forward and thereby lay the foundations for well-planned investments. We act as a guarantor, providing security for our business partners. Our brand new factory in Poland, for example, is self-sufficient when it comes to heating, with any surplus being sold on. We are planning to install solar cells in connection with the factory, which will allow it to supply its own electricity. I believe it is important for us to be able to meet our partners at a senior level and develop these important issues together.”

How does the sustainability issue affect the choice of suppliers?

“It has a considerable impact. If a company doesn’t keep up-to-date on these issues, they will lose business and be mercilessly discarded.”

Do you have a special memory from your career with sofas you would like to share?

“At the beginning of my time at Furninova, we were riding on the crest of a huge wave of success. We had a completely new position on the market, with good design and quality at great prices thanks to our in-house manufacturing in Poland. At the furniture fairs, we felt a bit like rock stars. There were queues to our stand, with people shouting and tugging at us, all in order to buy our products. The competition is stiffer now, but our success has continued, albeit at a slightly more moderate level. There are also numerous stories of clashes between my mathematical, slightly square brain and other more creative brains. Then there are all the times when someone has wanted to change something, usually just for the sake of change. I particularly remember one occasion when a customer wanted to adjust the incline of the backrest by one millimetre. I don’t believe that adjustment was especially noticeable in terms of comfort.”

Hand on heart, how sustainably do you live your life?

“I have to brag a little about my home municipality. They have come a long way on these issues, particularly when it comes to sorting at source. We now sort into ten different fractions in different containers in the Nordqvist home. I may possibly have become something of an ogre when it comes to enforcing this, but I think these issues are important.”

Finally, what sofa do you have at home?

“We have three sofas, all of which are from Furninova. Anything else would be completely unthinkable, even though my partner has attempted a coup on one occasion. Furninova is always striving to have one of the widest ranges of sofa models on the market, enabling us to offer models to suit every need. And if my partner still can’t find a suitable Furninova sofa, I can complain to our designers.”

Sleepy

An elegant sofa with a convenient and compact bed function. The bed mechanism opens easily by a one-handed pull and the thick mattress is made with a good night's rest in mind. The sofa bed turns into a compact, comfortable design sofa with simple, pure lines in the daytime.

Sleepy is available with 2 different armrests, optional contrast and piping. The mattress comes in 2 widths: 140 cm and 160 cm.

Vesta

Vesta is one of our all-time bestsellers, and it is easy to see why. It is a deeper lounge sofa with a timeless quality that always brings a contemporary presence to any room. Over the years, a carefully considered variety of modules and options have been developed to make it easy to customise and tailor to your very personal needs and requirements. One of Vesta's various features is that all of the modules are fully upholstered, making them easy to move around and place in different combinations, together or separate.

Vesta Back cushion

This year we have added Dusk optional cushions, an easy way to offer more back support and make the deeper Vesta less of a lounge sofa by creating more of an upright seating position.

Vesta LC

Vesta is available as a loose cover model. The difference in looks compared to a Vesta with a fixed cover is insignificant. You can easily remove the loose cover. Maintaining the sofa by choosing a washable fabric keeps the sofa clean and pristine and extends its lifespan. Practical and environmentally friendly at the same time. You will do yourself and the environment a big favour. Should a misfortune occur, it is also cheaper to exchange just the cover instead of the entire sofa.

Vesta Motion

Vesta Motion offers a slide function module, where the seat slides back and forth to suit your needed seat depth with the help of electrical motors controlling the position. Unique to the Vesta Motion is the optional feather filled slide seat – adding functions should never compromise on comfort.

Vida

Our new sofa, Vida, might at first glance have a simple contemporary appearance. Still, it features distinctive elements in the areas of both comfort and design. Vida has a deep seating depth and softly rounded wide armrests that are padded. In fact, the entire frame is padded with foam, and the armrests and seat covers are sewn into one single section, which is a subtle but quite luxurious detail. Our new comfort, C4, with synthetic down makes the cushions more stable and rounder than conventional down-filled without losing the feel. The filling is also allergy-friendly, contains no animal products, and will be available with a Swedish Eco label in 2021.

Egon

The cool, stylish lounge chair that never compromises comfort – this really sums up our armchair Egon. Optional decors seams along the seat and back add weight to Egon’s design. Special sewing details on the edges also add plenty of personality to this charmingly relaxing armchair.

Egon in Jesolo cognac.

Degano

Degano's design is made of simple geometric shapes softened by the curves in the padded frame. Placed on slender metal legs that are available in a range of colours, Degano is truly an armchair designed to suit a wide variety of spaces and placements.

Degano is available in both fabric and leather.

Gorm

Following the latest trends, organically shaped Gorm has a strong presence and comes fully upholstered. We have added small touches that emphasise our firm commitment to design. A special wide seam runs along the edges of the armchair - underling its shape and curves. The armchair stands on a metal swivelling base - making it both easy and comfortable to use in a small space or furnish in a tight group.

Podium

The Podium armchair was designed with a nod to the iconic Scandinavian designs of the 50ies - but unlike many older designs, we also added options to let you express your individuality. Podium is a sophisticated and comfortable armchair in solid oak that will find its spot in many homes, as a single armchair or complementing a sofa group.

Podium Special is available with a brace in the back as an extra design feature.

Podium is available in black wood and lacquered oak.

Revir

A classical oak armchair with stylish lines and a retro touch. Create your look with different upholstery options. The soft seat and back cushions are available in leather and fabric.

Revir's frame is made of solid oak

Also available with black frame.

Paloma Mix, a combination of Savage olive in the back and Gabrielle emerald inside.

Paloma

This is the original design to our new range of Paloma sofas - a contemporary looking armchair with rounded lines and a slight retro touch. Palomas' look and feel can be perceived very differently by opting for metal or wooden legs or upholstered mixed combinations. The armchair's inner and outer sides can be ordered with contrasting upholstery to create a more exciting look. Chose your personal expression with colours – incredibly trendy this season is to go for a boucle fabric.
